

Humpty Dumpty

Sanderstead Dramatic Club

How do you weave a full-length panto from a couple of lines of nursery rhyme? Ask David Apps, whose ingenious mind has come up with this original yolk - sorry, joke-filled entertainment about the famous egg who fell off the wall.

He's set it in Nursery Rhyme Land as an excuse to introduce his audience to plenty of easily identifiable characters like Simple Simon, Boy Blue, Bo Peep and Old King Cole.

When Humpty falls off his wall out of his shell appears an attractive leading man in the shape of James Caldwell, who gets all the Nursery Rhyme Land girls swooning. His confident and enthusiastic performance adds much to the success of this lively production.

Gordon Drayson is good value in the smallish role of Simple Simon and Lucy Hanson makes a picture book Bo Peep, pretty and daffy.

● There are further performances tonight (Friday) at 8pm and Saturday at 2pm and 6pm.
